Call for Tracks: Improving the Future of Work

The PRME Chapter CEE invites submissions for a thematic issue examining how workplaces can move beyond productivity metrics to cultivate prosocial cultures, meaningful work, and responsible innovation. This issue explores human-centered leadership, ethical AI adoption, intergenerational collaboration, hybrid work models, workplace design, and social impact strategies that enhance both organizational performance and societal well-being. We welcome conceptual, empirical, theoretical, review, and case-based research that demonstrates methodological rigor and practical relevance.
