Turn University Innovation into Global Impact

PRME is thrilled to join forces with FyrstGen, the world's first global platform allowing academic institutions to fully outsource the company launch and scale process, from company incorporation, to marketing, funding, operations, scaling and exit.

PRME Signatories can now turn research innovations focused on sustainable development into market-ready companies at no cost. Through this collaboration, PRME Signatories can unlock hidden IPs, create new income streams, support students and researchers, and amplify their contribution to sustainable development, while redefining how responsible entrepreneurship is practiced globally.
