PRME NEWS

PRME and HE4G are Joining Forces to Transform Management Education

In June, during the annual PRME Global Forum, the Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME) and the Higher Education for Good Foundation (HE4G) announced an exciting new collaboration. This marks the initial stride towards accelerating impact on transforming responsible management education. The objectives of this alliance are to amplify the role of youth in accelerating responsible management education through joint communications, fundraising and research.

PRME CHAMPIONS

PRME Champions Meeting Recap & Survey

The Champions gathered in Portugal before the 10th Responsible Management Education Research \(RMER\) Conference for their Q3 Meeting. More than 20 representatives from different institutions participated in debates and discussions in moments of connection and learning.

The meeting revolved around impact and how the roles of Champions can be enhanced to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals and support the PRME community. The second day had a hybrid program, and advanced discussions on the role of Champions in relation to the 2030 Agenda, PRME Commons and institutional integration of pedagogical models such as i5.

Don't forget to share your perceptions of the Champions programme in anticipation of the upcoming application cycle this fall via a brief, 5 minute survey.

Chapter Spotlight

In collaboration with the PRME Working Group on Anti-Poverty as the lead co-organizer, PRME Chapter DACH co-hosted the 10th Responsible Management Education Research Conference on 26-28 September in Lisbon, Portugal. The conference showcased a variety of research topics through 15 tracks chaired by multiple community members. Themes ranged from social innovation, sustainable consumption, and collective action to simulations, entrepreneurship and more.

In addition to the conference agenda, ISCTE Business School hosted the Q3 PRME Champions meeting, an Impactful Five (i5) Workshop, a Cross-Chapter and Working Group meeting, PRME Global Students Ambassadors panel, "Wicked Festival", and PRME Chapter DACH meeting. Many thanks to hosting institution ISCTE Business School and the entire organizing committee for putting together an impactful and successful series of events!
